

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

Seed Health Inc.

Senior Product Manager

Seed is a consumer health company bringing microbiome science to everyday life. We translate emerging research into thoughtfully designed products that support whole-body health—connecting science, design, and storytelling to create meaningful daily rituals.

We are seeking a customer-obsessed and collaborative Product Manager to help shape and scale our product portfolio. This role will lead the end-to-end development of products that are as intuitive and engaging as they are science-backed, working cross-functionally with design, brand, science, and operations teams to deliver experiences that resonate with and empower our community.

Est.
2016

100+
Product

200+
Licenses

#1
Venice, CA

seed.com

ABOUT US

The Seed Experience

Seed is a consumer health company bringing microbiome science to everyday life. We translate emerging research into thoughtfully designed products that support whole-body health—connecting science, design, and storytelling to create meaningful daily rituals. As we continue to grow, we are focused on building products and experiences that people trust, return to, and integrate seamlessly into their lives. We are seeking a customer-obsessed Product Manager to lead the development and evolution of our product portfolio—partnering cross-functionally with science, design, engineering, and brand teams to deliver intuitive, impactful solutions that resonate with our community.

CULTURE OF CARE	HOLISTIC WELLNESS	CUTTING-EDGE TECH
We foster respect, inclusivity, empathy, and support — nurturing growth and well-being for all team members and guests.	Our approach extends beyond the product integrating scientific research, education, and community to deepen understanding of the microbiome and its role in whole-body health.	Our proprietary platform is designed to deliver a consistent, controlled experience—translating emerging science into accessible, everyday wellness.

CULTURE & CORE VALUES

What We Stand For

- 01

Relationships
Trust is foundational to our work. By prioritizing scientific rigor, transparency, and quality, we build products that people can rely on as part of their daily health.
- 02

Integrity
Integrity is our commitment to doing what we say and saying what we do — honesty, consistency, and following through to earn the confidence of everyone who walks through our doors.
- 03

Service
Service is not just about what we offer — it is a mindset. We go above and beyond, anticipate needs, and make the experience better for those around us.
- 04

Energy
Energy is the spark that fuels our passion and drives our mission. It is a magnet — what draws people to our brand and keeps us moving forward.

THE ROLE

Senior Product Manager

The Snr. Product Manager will serve as the steward of Seed Health’s product experience—shaping how our products are developed, delivered, and evolve over time. This is a cross-functional role requiring both strategic thinking and hands-on execution.

Reporting into product leadership, you will drive the end-to-end product lifecycle from concept through launch and iteration translating scientific research into consumer-facing solutions. You will partner closely with Research, Design, Engineering, and Commercial teams to ensure products are rigorous in formulation, intuitive in use, and aligned with our standards for quality and consistency across every touchpoint.

RESPONSIBILITIES

Key Responsibilities

Product Strategy & Roadmap:	Define and drive the product strategy and roadmap aligned with Seed Health Inc.’s mission—prioritizing opportunities that translate scientific research into impactful, consumer-facing solutions.
Product Development:	Lead the end-to-end product lifecycle—from concept through launch and iteration—partnering closely with Research, Design, Engineering, and Operations to deliver products that are rigorous in formulation and intuitive in use.
Cross-Functional Collaboration:	Work across science, brand, growth, and commercial teams to ensure alignment between product development, positioning, and customer experience at every stage.
User Insights & Research:	Leverage qualitative and quantitative insights to understand user needs, behaviors, and outcomes—informing product decisions and continuous improvement.
Product Experience:	Define and optimize the end-to-end product experience, ensuring consistency, usability, and integration into daily routines.
Launch & Go-to-Market:	Partner with Brand and Growth teams to bring products to market—ensuring clear positioning, education, and adoption across channels.
Quality & Standards:	Uphold Seed’s commitment to scientific rigor, transparency, and quality—ensuring products meet high standards for efficacy, safety, and consistency.
Iteration & Optimization:	Continuously evaluate product performance and user feedback—driving improvements, new features, and lifecycle enhancements over time.
Partnerships & Innovation:	Identify opportunities to collaborate with external partners, researchers, and platforms to expand product capabilities and innovation.

WHAT WE'RE LOOKING FOR

Qualifications & Experience

Experience	You have 7+ years of product management experience, with significant depth in post-purchase, member, subscriber, or retention-focused product work.
Product Leadership	You set clear product direction and priorities, guiding cross-functional teams across research, design, engineering, and brand. You define the “what” and “why,” and drive alignment through execution.
Cross-Functional Collaboration	You are experienced working across disciplines—partnering effectively with scientific, technical, and commercial teams to bring products from concept to market.
User-Centered Thinking	You have a strong understanding of user behavior and needs, using insights and data to inform product decisions and improve outcomes.
Communication	You communicate complex ideas with clarity—translating research, product strategy, and performance into actionable insights for diverse stakeholders.
Execution & Iteration	You are comfortable operating across the full product lifecycle—launching, measuring, and continuously improving products based on real-world performance.

COMPENSATION

What We Offer

ANNUAL BASE SALARY	$180,000 – $195,000 USD Senior-level compensation reflecting strategic leadership and communications expertise.
PERFORMANCE BONUS	Milestone-Based Tied to brand visibility growth, media coverage quality, and communications milestones.
EQUITY PARTICIPATION	Stock Options Available Executive-level equity participation aligned with long-term company growth.
WELLNESS BENEFITS	Complimentary Gym Membership Enjoy the Seed experience firsthand — your well-being matters to us.
HEALTH COVERAGE	Medical, Dental, Vision & Life Comprehensive benefits package including wellness perks and 401(k) with company match.
WORK FLEXIBILITY	Hybrid / Remote-Friendly Flexible arrangement with travel for key media moments, studio openings, and events.

TOOLS & TECHNOLOGY

What You'll Work With

PR & Media	Cision · Meltwater · PR Newswire
Collaboration	Slack · Microsoft Teams
CRM & Analytics	HubSpot · Salesforce · Google Analytics
Content	Adobe Creative Cloud · Canva Pro · Google Docs
Social Listening	Sprout Social · Brandwatch
Productivity	Google Workspace · Microsoft Office 365
Hardware	MacBook Pro · Ergonomic Workstation
Personally Owned Equipment	iPhone 17 Pro Max and iPad Pro

ONBOARDING

Your First Two Weeks

Your onboarding at Seed Health is designed to immerse you in the brand, the business, and the communities you will represent — setting you up for immediate strategic impact.

Day 1–2	HR documentation, benefits enrollment, systems setup, and equity education.
Day 3–4	Deep immersion into seed's brand identity, technology, science, and franchise model.
Day 5	First-hand office visit, complimentary product experience session, and media asset review.
Week 2A	Meetings with CEO, Marketing, Franchise Development, and Operations leadership to align on priorities.
Week 2B	Review existing products, user insights, and performance data to establish a clear 90-day product roadmap grounded in research and real-world outcomes.

Note: A dedicated home workspace with reliable internet connectivity is required.

At Seed, product is not just about features—it is about translating science into solutions that are trusted, effective, and grounded in real-world outcomes.

As a Product Manager at Seed Health, you will shape how our products are developed and experienced, translating scientific research into solutions that are accessible, effective, and grounded in real-world use. You will work cross-functionally to define and build products that reflect our commitment to rigor, quality, and thoughtful design.

You will help bring to market products that support health in measurable, meaningful ways—ensuring they integrate seamlessly into daily life while advancing our broader mission of human and planetary health.

Join Seed as we continue to build a new standard in consumer health—where science and product come together to support people, every day.

Venice, CA